NEW YORK'S SENSATION.

MY LORD MANDEVILLE'S DEBTS

Nobleman.

A Long Branch telegram says: It behooves Lord Mandeville, the well-known sporting Englishman, who has made New York his home, and the race-courses around New York his resort off and on for the last half-dozen years, to arise and explain some curious transactions which are the theme of conversation here to-night. The transactions in question involve Lord Mandeville's exploits at the Sheephead Bay races on June 30th and July 1st, and charges to the effect that the noblems has defaulted in the payment of debts aggregating between $1,000 and $1,500. Lord Mandeville has been one of the most successful betters who has frequented race-courses around New York this year. He has not confined himself to any one stable, but with rare judgment has picked out the winners and put his money on them. He has had as an associate an English gentleman named Palgrave, and the two have shared their winnings. Mandeville has done the betting, and his friend has been a silent partner. His lordship is an excellent judge of horses, and he has had some friends among the trainers, who are said to have given him a good many friendly tips. He is what is known among the bookmakers as "pretty hard gome." and those gontlemen have suffered a good deal from his successes.

Your very respectfully,

Mus. W. E. STEHRING.

The stories of Mandeville's default, as successes.

The stories of Mandeville's default, as enculating here to night, give the manes of four book-makers, who are anxious to enjey his society for a short time. One of the number, by the way, expresses a desire to get within clubbing distance only. The four firms named are Roach & Barnes, Catheart & Co.. Mike 'Murray, and A. Burtor & Co. Mike 'Murray value bet $2290 with the firm, and onsider it the best combination of the getter for the diseases for which it is recommended. With kindest regards I am, respectfully,

W. B. FERRELL, B. D.

ATLANTA, GA.

Dr. J. Bractfield: Dear Str.—Some afters years ago I examined the rectipe of Female Regulator, and carefully studied authorities in rogard to its components, and then (as well as now) pronounce it to be the most scientific and skillfule combination of the realty reliable remedial vacetable agents known to science, to act directly on the affected organs and parts sympathrizing directly with them; and, therefore, providing a spectific lead of the initial bookmaker of his cashier.

"I thought he initis have settled with you,' replied the cashier. Catheart & Co., want to see Lord Mandeville $290 worth, and Mike Murray values his longing at the same figure. The story of the transaction with Murray runs like this: Mandeville and Mike Murray values his longing at the same figure. The story of the transaction with Murray runs like this: Mandeville made bets with him aggregating less than $100 on June 30th. The next morning his lordship came around to bet again. 'Why see here,' said Murray to his cashier, Lord Mandeville hasn't settled for yesterday's bets, has he?"

bets, has he?"

"No," responded the cashier,
"All right, I will," the nobleman is reported to have said. The bet was made, and Murray turned away. Mandevide waked toward the cashier and by him. Button & Co.'s claim is only for $100. John Daley has a claim for half that amount, there recease have small claims, so that Other persons have small claims, so that the total russ up toward $1,150. Up to and including Saturday, June 28th, Lord Mandeville is understood to have settled with the bookmakers promptly, though that he was equally prompt in liquidating his indebtedness in other directions is not so certain. It is said that at a certain famous restaurant in New York ascertaining famous restaurant in New York ascertaining the color of his money is precedent to filling his orders. Sundry unhonored cheeks are understood to have brought about this annoying condition of affairs. What lacerates the feelings of the bookmakers who are anxious to see Lord Mandeville is that his gains have been their losses. Catheart & Co., for instance, mourn the loss of $3,000, which the skill of the Englishman has won from them during the season, and Roach & Barnes have contri-buted about $1,500 to Lord Mandeville's nection with Baron Liebig, the public are in-formed that the Liebig Company alone can of-ter the article with Baron Liebig's guarantee of genuineness.

Therefore it comes about that when the YOUTHFUL RUFFIANS. Diabelical Cruelty of Some London Juve niles. [London Telegraph.]

At Lambeth Police Court on Saturday Stephen Murphy, nine, llving in Woodbine Place, Penge, was charged with being concerned with George Steeden, aged nine (now under remand), living in Maple road, Penge, in assaulting a child named Henry Douglass, about three and a half years old, by putting him into a dust-bin at Laurei Grove, Penge, thereby endangering his life. There was a further charge against the prisoners with setting fire to the house No. 4. Lime Tree avenue, an unoccupied dwelling-house, and doing damage to the extent of between £2 and £3.

The case is one of a most extraordinary extent of between £2 and £3.

The case is one of a most extraordinary nature, and caused a great deal of interest in court, owing to the age of the prisoners and the deep-laid plan carried out by them.

Mr. Moore attended on behalf of the Associate Institute for the Protection of Women and Children.

According to the evidence it appeared that the accused got hold of the child Dougless, took him to the garden of an unoccupied hopse, and there put him in a dust-bin which was some four feet or five feet deep.

This thing of enriching the treasury at the expense of "saucy" editors is—well, we can't afford a fine just now.

The centre of the acutest agony is found by St. Jacobs Oil, which cures.

They closed the lid upon the child, threw bricks upon him, and secured the lid of the dust-bin so as to prevent his gettion out. That was about 5 o'clock in the evening, and it was not until 1 o'clock on the following day that the poor child was found, and this in consequence of a third boy who heard what the prisoners had done and gave information to the friends. Steeden, in imparting the secret to the third boy, said it was their intention to keep the child in the dust-bin until he was dead, and then they would get a reward for the recovery of the hody. It was shown the child had been imprisoned in the dust-bin fer upward of twenty hours, and had been without food or drink for quite twenty-four hours. Detective Blackwell made inquiries and traced the prisoners, who do not deny the charge. It was afterward ascertained that they had broken into an uneccupied house, No. 4 Lime Tree avenue. There they piled a heap of paper and rubbish on the floor of the kitchen, and, having poured some paradin on it, they set it on fire. Fortunately the fire was discovered shortly afterward by a hady living next door, and, assistance being called, the flames were subdued. Some £2 or £3 damage was done. The prisoners, when questioned by the magistrate, put the blame on each etter.

on each other.

Mr. Chance said he could scarcely believe it possible for children like those before him to act in so shocking a manner. It was really extraordinary that the little child Douglass and escaped death, or at least severe injury. He was only too glad to find the child was so well after his imprisonment in the dust-bin for nearly twenty sours. He remanded the case that further inquiries might be made by the police.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

THE RICHMOND AND ALLEGHANY. Motion Argued as to Making First Bond heldere of the Bailroad Company Parties to the Pending Suit.

to the Pendins Sait.

In the City Circuit Court yesterday—Judge B. R. Wellford presiding—Captain John A. Coke, as counsel for a committee of the first mortgage bondholders of the Richmond and Alleghany Railroad Company, and representing over a million of the $6,000,000 of such bonds, presented a petition praying the Court that they be made parties to the pending suit for fore-closure and sale of the road.

As showing the necessity for their presence in the case the petitioners, W. H. Vandezbilt (the holder of $5,00,000 of the bonds) and others, set forth that the pay allowed the receivers, Messrs, Decatur Axtell, of Richmond, and Lewrence Myers, of New York—$10,000 per annum each—was as far in excess of the value of their services as it is of the ability of the road to pay. Their chief objection, however, was to the continuance of the expenses incident to the New York office, they alleging that $10,000 per annum was paid Mr. Myers; $4,000 to Mr. E. R. Leiand, secretary of the company; $1,000 to a cashier, while with other expenses, not including counsel lees, these made a total of about $18,000.

They said they would not have made any incinding counsel less, these made a total of about $18,000.

They said they would not have made any objection had Mr. Axtell been appointed sole receiver at his present pay.

The motion was argued and supported by Captaln Coke and opposed by Carrington & Fitzhugh, counsel for trustees of the first mortgage bonds; Colonel W. W. Gordon, counsel for trustees of the second mortgage bonds and Charles U. Williams, covisel for the receivers. It appeared that a very large number of the first mortgage bondholders were natistied with the present status of the case. The opposing counselheld that all bondholders were properly represented in the proceedings by the trustees, and they presented leading cases and authorities to show that the petition should not be allowed.

Petersburg.

News was received here yesterday of the death, at 7:15 in the morning, of Mrs. Margaret Joynes, the widow of Judge William T. Joynes, of the Court of Appeals. Mrs. Joynes was the daughter of the late Judge John F. say, and a lady conspicuous for the dignity, nobility, and beauty of her life. Surpassing most of her ser in the vigor and scope of her mental power, she was inferior to none in the virtues and graces which made the model woman, daughter, wife, mother, friend. She had suffered for many months from a painful and incurable disease, but bore her Beath of Mrs. William T. her more fortunate life had been enviable her more fortunate life had been enviable and happy.

She leaves two children, a son and daugh-ter, and leaves to a friendly circle as wide as the State the memory of a noble life fill-ed with the story of unnumbered charities, continued courtesies, and duties in every field, generously, modestly, but completely discharged.

The following cases were disposed of yesterday:
Delia Smith (colored), assaulting and beating Salina Massie. Fined $5 and cost and required to give bonds for her good behavior for tweive months.
Buck Epps (colored), a notorious little thief, for stealing a bottle of wine from H. A. Nightengale, was jalled for twelve months.

Samuel Bailey and William Harris, small boys, were also charged with stealing a lottle of liquor. They were turned over to their mothers for punishment.

Joseph Kersey, charged with assaulting and threatening to kill E. C. Lindsay. The case was continued till to-day.

Louisa Frayser (colored) was jailed for ten days for stealing one lot of wearing apparel from Bettie Baker.

Henry Shums (colored) was fined $2.50 and cost for disorderly conduct.

Thirty-three persons have been summoned to appear before the Police Justice to show cause why they should not be fined for violating the city sanitary laws.

upon the top of the un roof of the building, or a wing thereof; no fierce flames happed their light heavenward, and it was natural to think that water was more potently damaging than smothering fire. The firemen were promptly on hand, ably officered, and doing, as they always do, effective service. They broke open the house, located the fire, and squelched it before it made any headway. The house had no name of proprietor. It now appears that it was at J. A. Hutchenson's redrying establishment.
